As a student at UA, you have the unique opportunity to participate in a wide variety of activities. There are many benefits to being involved in a student organization:

- Allows you to meet people and make connections with those who have similar interests.
- Provides an opportunity to connect to the University and other students.
- Helps you get the full value out of your college experience.
- Encourages and advances your intellectual, cultural, spiritual and social development.
- Helps you gain knowledge, skills and experience in leadership, communication, problem-solving, group development and management, budgeting, finance, public speaking, and much more.
- Helps you become knowledgeable about what is happening on the UA Campus.
- Builds your resume with extracurricular and leadership development activities.
- Complements your academic programs of study and enhances your overall educational experience.

Student organizations exist to build upon and enrich the classroom and university experience. ASUA believes involvement outside of the classroom is an important aspect of your education. There are a wide variety of organizations to meet your interests and needs. If an organization does not exist that fits your interests, any student can take the initiative to create a new student organization.

The university expects that all student organizations exemplify respect and inclusion. As you hold events and activities with your organization, remember that you are also representing the University of Arizona. Please review and pay close attention to the guidelines and policies in this handbook. Feel free to consult a staff member for clarification, guidance, and advice at any time. We encourage and welcome feedback on this handbook and all programs and services offered. For additional information, please contact us at asua-clubs@arizona.edu.

Student Organization Basics

The Associated Students of University of Arizona (ASUA) is charged to uphold all the policies and procedures outlined in this handbook as they apply to student organizations (also referred to as clubs). In addition, ASUA is committed to providing student organizations with resources that will enhance the experiences of student organization members and leaders on the University of Arizona campuses.

This handbook will aid student leaders and faculty/staff advisors in successfully leading their organization and familiarize them with key rules and policies related to student clubs and organizations.

The University of Arizona, through ASUA, provides certain privileges to recognized clubs and organizations in good standing. These privileges include:

- Use of University facilities, equipment, and services

- Access to web-based software to develop a personalized club homepage with an events calendar, member rosters, and more.
- Ability to sponsor fundraising events (including the sponsorship of commercial vendors on the mall)
- Use of the University name and logo with approval from Trademarks and Licensing
- Eligibility for awards and honors presented to student organizations and their members.
- Discounted University services, i.e. room reservations in the Student Unions and Fast Copy Services
- Participation in fundraisers such as Spring Fling
- Club funding through ASUA clubs Appropriations.

Your group can access these privileges by becoming recognized and following the policies and procedures of the University of Arizona.

The Student Organization Handbook

The Student Organization Handbook is an introduction to the many services and resources available to registered student organizations, as well as policies that impact your organization. Please review the materials provided in this handbook and share this information with the members of your organization.

While this guide is intended to be a summary of certain matters of interest to student organizations, readers should be aware that:

- This document is not a complete statement of all procedures, rules, and regulations of the University of Arizona or ASUA.
- The University reserves the right to change, without notice, any procedures, policies, and programs that appear in the Student Organization Handbook.

- Compliance with policies related to student organizations may be reviewed at any time during the year by ASUA staff.
- The various colleges, schools and departments of the university may have additional procedures and policies that apply to student organizations.

If you have any questions, please contact your ASUA Clubs staff at asua-clubs@arizona.edu. It is the job of student organization advisors to ensure that your organization is informed about policies and procedures and has an opportunity for personal growth and leadership development.

Best wishes on a successful academic year!

Student Organization Advisor

What is a student organization advisor?

Student Organization Advisors are experienced faculty or staff members who formally mentor student leaders and connect students who share similar passions and interests through a club experience. Student Organization Advisors serve as a bridge between the university and student organizations to create a cohesive and holistic experience both inside and outside of the classroom. Student Organization Advisors play an active role in guiding students in their pursuit of leadership development, connecting students to resources, and positively impact the overall well-being of the students they serve.

UAccess Edge Advisor Training

ASUA offers specific training on the duties and responsibilities of club advisors. Advisors are required to complete this training. Clubs whose advisor has not completed this will not be recognized by ASUA. Staff at ASUA will verify that listed advisors have undergone this training and understand their responsibilities. Follow these steps:

- Go to EDGE Learning at arizona.sabacloud.com
- On top search bar, enter "ASUA" and select the "ASUA Club Advisor Certification."
- On the next page, click "Register."
- On the following page, click "Complete Registration."
- On the subsequent page, click "Launch" to start the training.
- This training is valid for 2 years.

Each organization must have a faculty/staff advisor, with exception to Greek-letter organizations recognized by Fraternity and Sorority Programs and their local governing bodies. Faculty/staff advisors are defined as individuals (faculty, staff, or administrator) who are currently employed by the University of Arizona and hold office hours within the University. Any faculty, staff, or administrator on sabbatical cannot serve as an advisor. Graduate students/assistants cannot serve as an advisor.

Why be a student organization advisor?

Advising student organizations can be very rewarding. It provides opportunities for faculty and staff to interact with students in a different context. Advisors can have an important impact on students' development and university engagement, serve as a mentor to students, connect with university colleagues and engage with students and organizations who may share similar passions and interests.

Please reach out to ASUA Clubs if you are interested in being an advisor:

The Club Sports Program is administered through the Department of Campus Recreation, which serves as an administrative body, resource, and information center for those involved in the Club Sports Program. The Club Sports Program has been developed for the purpose of engaging in extramural-intercollegiate sporting activities. The Club Sports Program is housed in the Student Recreation Center and provides supportive administrators who assist clubs with the following:

- Facilities - scheduling, practices, events, and meetings.

To maintain recognition, social Greek-letter organizations must comply with all applicable policies and requirements, including without limitation the following:

- Social Greek-Letter Organizations are required to be full members of the appropriate Greek Governing Council.

- The organization president agrees to accept full responsibility for the chapter and its members' adherence to: the constitution, bylaws, rules and judicial procedures of the respective Greek Governing Council and those of the National/International Organization; University policies (including but not limited to those set forth in this handbook and the Student Code of Conduct) and directives by authorized University officials; the University of Arizona Greek Relationship Statement, the Greek Strategic Plan, and the Greek Standards of Excellence; the University of Arizona Recognized Student Organization Residential Facility Policy; policies governing social events with and without alcohol; Philanthropy Advisory Board bylaws; Greek Standards Board Constitution; the University of Arizona Student Code of Conduct; the University Rules for the Maintenance of Public Order, and local, state and federal laws. A Chapter Advisor is defined as a volunteer who has been appointed by appropriate fraternity/sorority officials to serve as the primary advisor for the chapter. If this person is a University employee, then advising activities are not considered to be in connection to the employee's official job duties at the University. However, advisors remain obligated to follow University policies and procedures in relation to their advisory assistance, including required reporting of violations under the University's Hazing Policy, incidents or sex-based discrimination (including acts of sexual violence) to the Dean of Students, and certain crimes as required by the University's obligations under The Clery Act.  - Each student organization shall keep its chapter house, property, and surrounding public right-of-way clean and free of debris.

The recognized Social Greek-Letter Organization shall indemnify, defend, and hold harmless the State of Arizona, the Arizona Board of Regents, the University of Arizona, and their respective officers, employees and agents from and against liability, loss, claims, damages, or expenses, including reasonable attorneys' fees, arising from or related to the performance by the Organization or its respective agents of any obligation or responsibility referenced in this Student Organization Handbook or any activity directly related to the Social Greek Letter Organization's activities, events and functions, but only in proportion to and to the extent such liability, loss, expense, attorney fees, or claims for injury or damages are caused by or result from the conduct (including negligent acts or omissions) of the Social Greek Letter Organization, its individual members, alumni members, advisor, alumni advisor, associate members, guests, or invitees directly related to the Social Greek Letter Organization's activities, events, and functions.

The University's complete Housing Policy and information regarding other policies that Residential Organizations must comply with are available on the Fraternity & Sorority Programs Recognized Student Organization Residential Facility Policy website.

Marketing your Club

Naming Your Student Organization

University of Arizona recognizes the importance of student organizations in the student experience and encourages student groups to register to gain access to a variety of benefits. However, registered student organizations remain independent, voluntary organizations and are not sponsored by the university. Registered student organizations may not use "University of Arizona", "UofA", "UArizona", or any similar variants prior to their organization name as it may imply an official relationship with the university.

When creating a name for an organization, organization leadership must follow the University of Arizona's overall brand and licensing protocols. The University of Arizona has created a valuable resource for clubs regarding naming conversation. Visit University Branding for more information on naming your organization.

Social Media

Social media is a great way to market your organization and keep up to date with your members. Make sure that you are using the proper name of your organization on your social media accounts. Registered student organizations may not use "University of Arizona", "UA", "UArizona" or any similar variant prior to their organization name as it may imply an official relationship with the University.

Follow @asuclubs on instagram for all ASUA Clubs related information and updates.

Trademark and Licensing Regulations

All logos, seals, names, symbols and slogans associated with the University of Arizona are trademarks and are the exclusive property of The University of Arizona. Any individual, organization, or company wishing to use the University's logos and trademarks must obtain the right to do so in writing from the university. UA Trademark Management is responsible for protecting the use of the University of Arizona trademarks and for licensing commercial use of these trademarks.

The Arizona Board of Regents on behalf of the University of Arizona has registered or otherwise protected through common law the "Trademarks" of the University. The University has delegated the responsibility for maintaining, managing, and licensing of all "Products" that bear University Trademarks to the Trademarks & Licensing Office in University Marketing & Brand Management, regardless of the manner of distribution. The University's complete Product Licensing and Trademark Usage policy and the most up-to-date information regarding the policy are available on their website

You must use a University approved vendor for all marketing materials. You can find this list on the Trademark and Licensing website.

Reimbursement requests for each academic year are due by June 14. No reimbursements will be processed after that date.

Managing your Student Organization

Student Leadership Development

Consistent leadership is critical to the development and success of the organization. High performing organizations positively impact the UA community. It is suggested that organizations review their constitution and other governing documents regularly to ensure procedures regarding membership, elections, and appointments are up to date.

Transitioning Leadership

Every recognized organization should have a transition of leadership plan where important details of the club's operation must be shared with new executives. A smooth transition of materials and information ensures your organization remains vibrant and does not lose time and momentum catching up from one school year to the next.

Leadership transition typically takes place late in the spring semester for student organizations. However, student organizations may also transition in January or at other times throughout the year. These are the steps that your organization should take to transition leadership.

1. Have new officers review the Student Organization Handbook and the Organization Constitution
2. Update the organization's profile on CampusGroups with new contact information.
3. Update club roster of members in CampusGroups
4. Share/Transition access to electronic portals and documents
5. Share/Transition access to bank organization bank account if applicabl
6. Any remaining checks and cash for the organization that needs to be deposited in the club's account.
7. Copies of reservation confirmations for future meetings, events, tabling, or other functions
8. Share passwords to social media platforms, email accounts, and other digital tools where the organization conducts business or communicates with members.
9. Introduce incoming leaders to key contacts and partners.
10. Connect with your organization advisor.
11. If student organization re-registration is currently open new officers should complete the re-registration process
12. Any other information necessary to the club or organization and it's incoming leadership

See the ASUA Club Resource page for additional help and review the leadership transition guide.

Club Standards Board

Student organizations at the University of Arizona shall complement the academic mission of the University and enhance the educational experience for students. An organization will be held responsible for its own actions and the actions of its members and guests.

The following is a list of conduct for which an organization will be held responsible. The list is not exhaustive or all-inclusive. View the Club Standards Board and the student code of conduct for additional information.

- When an organization is found in violation of an ASUA club handbook, bylaw or website policy, including without limitation, financial policy violations, Not adhering to venue specific policies and expectations, Not operating as a student led club or organization, or receiving numerous violations

Share Responsibility for Infractions

Students and organizations may be held responsible for the conduct of their guests while on university premises, at University sponsored or supervised activities, and at functions sponsored by any recognized student organization.

Reporting

If members of the UArizona community are concerned that a student organization may have violated the ASUA Handbook or bylaws, they are encouraged to submit a Qualtrics form to ASUA for review. Reported incidents will be reviewed in a timely manner, and all reports will be reviewed to determine the most appropriate response for a course of action. Please note that this is a mechanism to report student organization activity, and should not be misconstrued as a replacement for any other University reporting systems such as Title IX reporting, reporting to the Dean of Students Office, etc. If you have any questions or need clarity on which reporting system best fits your situation, please reach out to ASUA at carolb5@arizona.edu or your club Advisor.

Please note, in emergency situations, if there is a suspected crime in progress, or imminent or serious threats to the safety of anyone, community members are to immediately contact UAPD or 911.

Please note that if members of a student organization are concerned that another member of their organization may have violated a policy, they are encouraged to contact ASUA, Dean of Students, or their Advisor.

Review Process

If the issue raised is deemed to be an alleged violation of the ASUA Handbook or bylaws, the ASUA coordinator will contact the president and advisor of the relevant student organization and inform them of the alleged violation. The president and advisor will be notified in writing via email of the specific violation(s) of the ASUA Handbook or bylaws that the organization is alleged to have committed in advance of the review. The coordinator will explain the Club Standards Board process to the president and Advisor of the student organization in question, and the president may read all statements, reports, or other information relevant to the report. The facts of the alleged violation will be discussed, and the president will be given ample opportunity to present their own account of the incident in question. The president of the student organization has the option as to whether or not they would like their case heard by the CSB. If the president does not choose to have the case heard by the CSB, the coordinator will inform the CSB of the review of the case and the CSB will make a recommendation to the coordinator, who will inform the student organization of the appropriate consequence(s). If the president does choose to have the case heard by the CSB, the president will present the case to the CSB and the CSB will deliberate and make a finding by majority vote. Then, the CSB will submit a recommendation that will include the finding (summary of the review, hearing, finding and/or rationale) regarding the finding of responsibility and/or consequence(s) for the student organization in question to the ASUA coordinator. The CSB will determine the appropriate action and deliver the results to the ASUA coordinator.

If the issue raised is not deemed to be an alleged violation of the ASUA Handbook, bylaws, or website, the coordinator may determine the case needs to be directed to the Greek Standards Board, the dean of Students office, or handled internally with the club.

Clubs will receive a funding sheet from ASUA to provide to the SUMC event planning office for payment. Anything not covered by the ASUA Appropriations Board must be covered by the club.

Campus Use

Any event that takes place on campus must comply with the University's Campus Use Policy and be scheduled and approved, at a minimum, by the Student Unions Event Scheduling Office and any other body required to approve the event as required by the Campus Use Policy or any other applicable policy. Keep in mind that, depending on the location and/or scale of the event, different requirements may need to be satisfied before the event/campus use can be approved. For more information, see the Campus Use and Mall Scheduling webpage:

This webpage contains information regarding the University's requirements for campus use, including without limitation issues concerning safety, sustainability, accessibility, and impact on both the UA and local community. View the University's Campus Use Policy.

Events need to be scheduled via a Campus Use Activity Request Form. Campus Use Request Forms should be submitted several weeks in advance and no later than 10 business days in advance of the event.

Each individual event requires its own request form. For example, if an organization plans to table every day for a week, the organization must submit a request for each day it plans to table. Location requests are subject to other events that have been granted prior approval by Mall Scheduling.

If a recognized organization is planning a large event, in addition to the Campus Use Activity Request Form, the organization may be asked to present at a Campus Use Committee meeting to discuss their event, evaluate compliance with the Campus Use Policy, and get constructive feedback from university partners about how to make the event more successful. Members from the Committee will reach out to organizations to discuss important details (i.e., turning off water sprinklers, getting insurance certificates from vendors, approvals from Union on food trucks) and prepare groups for the Committee meeting.

Motorpool

Recognized student organizations may request to use vehicles from Motor Pool. Any student wanting to drive a university-owned vehicle must complete the Defensive Driving Course online before picking up the vehicle. We highly recommend most who plan on driving take the HOV course. This will open options to the club should motorpool be booked.

Your organization is sponsored by a university department, the department may process the motorpool request for you. If you're not sponsored by a university department, ASUA must process the request for you.

Student groups can complete the Motor Pool Request Form through ASUA. All requests must be submitted to motorpool at least 14 business days prior to pick up date. The motorpool request form must be submitted at least 21 days prior to your vehicle pick up date.

All clubs must pay their motorpool bill directly. Payment is due within one week of receiving the final balance. Should a club not pay, they will lose their recognition benefits from ASUA until their debt is settled. All payments must be submitted in cash or check.

Campus Recreation Rentals

Campus Recreation has many facilities that are available for use. The purpose and usage of the facility must be complementary to the mission of the University. For up-to-date information on reserving space through Campus Recreation, visit their website.

Student Organization Fundraising

Spring Fling

Spring Fling recruits clubs to host/staff food and game booths as a fundraiser for their organization. Applications are competitive. Make sure your club follows Spring Fling Instagram for updates and information.

Date Auctions

"Date" auctions involve the process of "bidding" on a human being for the service or the ability to spend time with a certain person. This process devalues a human being to the level of merchandise and involves a comparison of the relative "value" of each person being auctioned. Date auctions and any similar conduct or event is prohibited.

Raffles

UA, departments, administrative units, and student organizations are NOT permitted to conduct raffles. Using an actual raffle ticket for a door prize is permitted, as long as attendees are not required to pay for the raffle ticket, and everyone has an equal chance of receiving it. Any group planning a raffle should be familiar with the law related to this activity and should contact ----- for additional information.

Contracts

If your organization is thinking of hiring a vendor, bringing in a guest speaker and/or artist or contracting with a venue, student leaders are not to sign legally binding documents. You and/or your organization will be personally liable for fulfilling the terms of agreements should you choose to sign the contract. If your organization is pursuing university funds to pay for goods or services that you have signed – all provisions, statuses and policies that pertain to UA Use of Funds will apply.

Percentage Night

Many businesses around the University will allow your organization to participate in a percentage night. These vents are often a good way for your organization to raise money for the club. Do note that clubs and organizations are not 501(c)(3) organizations under the University of Arizona Tax ID number.

Bank Accounts & Bank Letters

Monies obtained from dues, fundraisers, sponsorships, or donations should be deposited in an off-campus bank account. An off-campus bank account is not held to the policies of the University; the University does not take any responsibility in the management of your off-campus account. It is the responsibility of each student organization to track expenses and keep records of the account number, balance, Club EIN, and the approved officer signers.

The organization operates in the name of the entity and not in the name of the individuals who are part of the organization. Student organizations are strongly discouraged from depositing student organization money into an individual member's personal account. Business records should be maintained in the organization's name, not in the name of an officer. Keep in mind that financial institutions will require that checks made payable to the organization be deposited into an account established for the organization.

Designate two or more members to be authorized to withdraw funds from your account. Ideally, checks and withdrawals should require 2 officers' signatures to be valid. This reduces the risk of any unauthorized expenditures.

Financial institutions will require that authorized signers are kept current. If the signers have left their position or the university, your organization will experience a delay in withdrawing funds. Changes to the organization's account must be in writing to the financial institution from the current authorized signers. A Bank letter must be submitted through campus groups to change signers. Bank letters are only provided to currently recognized clubs through ASUA.

Advisors are welcome to be listed as an authorized signer if they so choose.

If appropriate, student organizations are responsible for filing taxes. Oftentimes, student organizations do not earn enough income to require filing federal income tax. Please refer to the IRS websites for more information,

IRS

IRS Business

Most banks allow organizations to set up accounts under the organization's name. Typically, your organization must provide:

1. Proof that the organization is an official registered student organization.
2. Two or more co-signers with photo ID, one of whom could be the club advisor (for transition purposes);
3. A copy of your club's official constitution and meeting minutes with signatory identified
4. An Employer Identification Number (EIN) on file with the Internal Revenue Services.

Tax Identification Numbers (TIN) or Employee Identification Numbers (EIN)

To open a checking account at a bank, your student organization will need an EIN/TIN. To apply for an EIN/TIN, the organization will need to complete an application that is available on the IRS website.

Student organizations cannot use the University's EIN/TIN.

When applying for an EIN/TIN, an individual associated with the organization (i.e., the President or Treasurer) will need to provide personal information, including a Social Security Number. When transitioning between officers, it is recommended that the executor of the TIN/EIN be switched as well. This will protect the outgoing officer and ensure that his/her name is not associated with the account after leaving office.

Tax Exempt Status

ASUA Recognized student organizations DO NOT have 501(c)(3) nonprofit status unless the organization has been recognized as a 501(c)(3) with the Internal Revenue Service. Student organizations are responsible for complying with all applicable tax laws, regulations, and obligations.

University Policies

Hazing Policy

No individual Wildcat should be demeaned, ridiculed, belittled, or placed in a potentially harmful situation to be included in a group at the University of Arizona. The University of Arizona Hazing Hotline 520-626-HAZE (4293) provides a telephone line for anyone to report a suspected or recent hazing incident. This phone number accepts calls 24 hours a day. In the State of Arizona, hazing is a class 1 misdemeanor, except if the hazing results in a person's death it is a class 4 felony. View the Arizona State Law

"Hazing" means any intentional, knowing, or reckless act committed by a student, whether individually or in concert with other persons, against another student, and in which both of the following apply:

1. The act was committed in connection with an initiation into, an affiliation with, or the maintenance of membership in any organization that is affiliated with the University; and

2. The act contributes to a substantial risk of potential physical injury, mental harm, or degradation; or causes physical injury, mental harm, or personal degradation.

View the University's Hazing Policy and the most up-to-date information regarding the policy

NOTE: To report a hazing incident or to ask questions regarding the policy call 626-HAZE (4293).

Alcohol Policy

The University of Arizona recognizes that the use of alcoholic beverages by those of legal age is a matter of personal choice. The University requires that those who choose to drink on university property abide by state law and University policies and regulations, and expects that such individuals will conduct themselves responsibly, mindful of the rights of others.

Speakers/First Amendment Assistance

Student organizations are encouraged to host speakers and events that pertain to the mission of the group and its interests. The University of Arizona works to support students' First Amendment rights of assembly and speech and has a team of staff who have been trained to work with groups to help ensure that the First Amendment rights of speakers, guests, and protesters are all respected and protected. View more information about the University of Arizona's First Amendment guidelines, policies, and monitoring.

If your organization wants to bring a speaker or lecture series to campus that may garner great interest from the campus community or bring attention from media outlets, several factors should be considered. The organization must coordinate with the Dean of Students Office to help ensure that the First Amendment rights of all students, staff, and faculty are protected and respected. For example, some speakers/lecturers may require additional security from the University of Arizona Police Department, or the anticipated audience may be larger than the venue can handle. If an event takes place in the Student Union Memorial Center, staff in the facility can help with crowd management and audio/visual issues. In addition, issues around publicity and media requests can be mitigated through the University's Media Relations team. A successful speaker event can only be facilitated with prior planning and early communication. If your group is bringing a lecturer on campus that may garner media interest, possible protest, or security concerns, contact the Assistant Dean of Students for Student Governance and Programs at 520-621-2782 as soon as your group starts planning for the event.

Non-discrimination and Anti-Harassment Policy

Non-discrimination and Anti-harassment Policy

The University of Arizona is committed to creating and maintaining an environment free of discrimination. In support of this commitment, the University prohibits discrimination, including harassment and retaliation, based on a protected classification, including race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, disability, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity, or genetic information. The University encourages anyone who believes he or she has been the subject of discrimination to report the matter immediately as described in the section below, "Reporting Discrimination, Harassment, or Retaliation." All members of the University community are responsible for participating in creating a campus environment free from all forms of prohibited discrimination and for cooperating with university officials who investigate allegations of policy violations.

Reporting Discrimination, Harassment, or Retaliation Reporting Complaints to University Offices

An individual who believes that he or she has been subjected to discrimination, harassment, or retaliation in violation of this policy should report the matter immediately as set forth below to obtain information about resolving concerns, including complaint-filing options and procedures, and to enable the University to take prompt remedial action. If the alleged policy violator is a University student, the individual who has been the subject of discrimination, harassment, or retaliation in violation of this policy should contact:

Dean of Students
Dean of Students Office
Robert L Nugent Building
1212 E. University Blvd
PO Box 210040
Tucson, AZ 85721-0040
(520) 621-7057
dos-deanofstudents@email.arizona.edu

For all other instances, the recipient of the alleged conduct should contact:

Director for Equity Compliance
Office of Institutional Equity
University Services Building, Room 113
P.O. Box 21058
Tucson, AZ 85721-0158
(520) 621-9449
equity@email.arizona.edu

If the alleged policy violator is employed by the Dean of Students Office or the Office of Institutional Equity, then the individual who has been the subject of discrimination, harassment, or retaliation in violation of this policy may contact the Vice President of Equity, Inclusion.

Good Faith Allegations

Because of the nature of discrimination, harassment, or retaliation complaints, allegations often cannot be substantiated by direct evidence other than the complaining individual's own statement. Lack of corroborating evidence should not discourage individuals from seeking relief under this policy. No adverse action will be taken against an individual who makes a good faith allegation of discrimination, harassment, or retaliation under this policy, even if an investigation fails to substantiate the allegation. However, individuals who make dishonest statements or make statements with willful disregard for the truth during an investigation or enforcement procedure under this policy may be subject to disciplinary action in accordance with existing University policies.

Anonymous Inquiries and Complaints

Members of the University community may contact the Office of Institutional Equity or the Dean of Students Office at any time to ask questions about discrimination, harassment, retaliation, or complaint-filing procedures and may provide information without disclosing their names. This provision does not relieve managers, supervisors, instructors, or advisors of their responsibility to promptly report under this policy.

Reporting Complaints to Outside Agencies

University employees and students have the right to file discrimination, harassment, and/or retaliation complaints with outside agencies as well as with the University's Office of Institutional Equity or the Dean of Students Office. If an individual files a complaint with an external agency, the filing will not affect the University's investigation concerning the same or similar events.

Dean's Excuses

Recognized Organizations may request Dean's Excuses if organization members are going to be absent due to official activities of the organization. Eligibility for and issuance of Dean's Excuses are governed by University Policy. If your organization is sponsored by a university department, the department may process the dean's excuse. If you're not sponsored by a university department, ASUA must process the deans excuse for you.

Visit the Dean of Students website for the form.

Visit the attendance website for more information on the policies and procedures for requesting deans' excuses.

If ASUA will process the deans Excuses, you must email your completed form (without advisor signatures) to the ASUA Administrative Associate at christylynch@arizona.edu

International Travel

ASUA-recognized student organizations who travel outside the United States and its territories must register their travel with UA Global prior to their departure, regardless of whether the trip is being funded by ASUA.

Students traveling abroad will visit the International Travel website and click on "International Travel Registry" to complete the process.

Student Rights & Responsibilities & Code of Conduct

The Student Code of Conduct sets forth the standards of conduct expected of students who choose to join the university community. Students who violate these standards will be subject to disciplinary sanctions in order to promote their own personal development, to protect the university community, and to maintain order and stability on campus. View The Arizona Board of Regents Code of Conduct.

Insurance Policy

In most cases, UA does not provide insurance for student organizations. Recognized student organizations are responsible and liable for the actions and behaviors of their members and officers. Any damage to persons or property will need to be covered by the personal insurance of the participants.

If your organization is renting space on campus to practice or meet, insurance is not required. If you are reserving space on campus to host an event in which outside groups or members of the public will be invited to attend, a liability policy will be required.

If your organization is renting space at the campus rec, your advisor must email you point of contact at the rec center to sign all contracts and accept liability on behalf of their home department. If your advisors choose not to accept this liability, insurance will be required.

If a student organization is required to provide proof of liability insurance coverage when leasing or using any UA facility, a temporary insurance policy can be purchased through the UA's TULIP program

Please contact Steve Holland or Miguel Delgado @ 520.621.1790 if you need assistance or have questions.

Clery Act

Club/organization advisors are considered Campus Security Authorities (CSA), which requires faculty and staff to report criminal matters in accordance with the Clery Act. Risk Management offers online training for CSA compliance. Clery Act reporting forms and categories are available through the University of Arizona Police Department.

Use of personal vehicle

Students are discouraged from using personal vehicles for organization-related travel. When a personal vehicle must be used for organization travel, the driver assumes all liability associated with the trip. Drivers and passengers should follow guidelines when using personal vehicles.

- Drivers and passengers are expected to follow University policy and federal, state, and local laws and posted signs.
- Drivers must have a valid operator's license.
- Drivers must possess adequate auto insurance as required by law.
- Drivers must possess current vehicle registration.
- Drivers and all passengers should have access to and use seatbelts and/or other approved safety restraint devices.
- Drivers and all passengers shall not possess, consume, or transport alcohol and/or illegal substances.
- Drivers should take considerable care to allow for adequate rest periods and drives times.
- Drivers should take care to assess the safety of the vehicle they are driving
- Drivers and passengers should have proper communication and emergency plans in place.

Risk Management & Liability Policy

The wide variety of interests and activities represented by recognized student organizations and student government at the University of Arizona have an equally wide array of potential risks and liabilities associated with them. As a condition of recognition by the Associated Students of the University of Arizona (ASUA), all student organizations are required to conduct their activities in a manner that maximizes safety and health and minimizes the risk of accidents, injuries, illnesses, or other losses.

For most routine organization activities, such as regular meetings or social gatherings, members are solely responsible for their own actions and any loss, damage, or other liability incurred as a result of those actions.

For certain actions or activities, an organization and/or its members may be provided liability protection by the State of Arizona Risk Management Program (A.R.S. § 41-621) on an excess basis, provided the following conditions are satisfied:

- All individuals to be covered by this program must be recognized by ASUA as authorized volunteers performing a specific task or service on behalf of the UA.
- Liability coverage is for official business only. Accordingly, the volunteer activity must further the goals of the UA and must be conducted under the direction and authorization of a responsible University official acting in an official capacity, and not as a private individual.
- Job and/or activity descriptions for volunteers must be submitted in writing to ASUA for review and filing. ASUA and UA Risk Management will determine if the proposed activity meets the volunteer coverage criteria described above. The final determination of coverage rests with the Arizona Department of Administration, Risk Management Section.
- This liability protection is valid only to the extent that the volunteer's actions are within the course and scope of the authorized volunteer activity and only while performing the activity.
- If individual liability is incurred as a result of activities outside the course and scope of authorized volunteer service, the University of Arizona and the State of Arizona are prohibited by statute from accepting any portion of that liability. All responsibility for damages rests solely with the responsible individual.
- Any student organization that is affiliated with a national organization should determine if the national organization's liability insurance policy can be extended for official events or activities of the organization. It is fairly commonplace for national parent organizations to extend liability coverage to the official activities of individual chapters.

If your organization is involved or participates in any activity or event where injury may occur, the Organization should notify Risk Management of the activity or event and consider having participants (regardless of whether they are members of the Organization or not) complete an Assumption of Risk and Release Agreement before participating in the activity. More information regarding the Assumption of the Risk and Release Agreement is available from Risk Management HERE.

If a student organization is required to provide proof of liability insurance coverage when leasing or using any UA facility, a temporary insurance policy can be purchased through the UA's TULIP program (<https://tulip.ajgrms.com/>).
